

he was asking you to go for advice - if you will - but afraid you won't - and afraid you won't see things and do things as C. D. feels sure you must - or - LIP - etc.

I can't help wondering what he said about going home - and everything; he has been so ill at ease since Saturday report - (received here Sunday) and to my inquiries if any worse - said: "Hell - yes - the situation is exactly as I've foreseen and foretold - but I can't make Paul believe it - or - I couldn't; it's too late, now, of course - accepting that it'll be still worse unless I can get him to get rid of stuff and quit the damn game - without seeming to boss him too hard. I hate to have him feel that I'm doing that - but - JESUS he's playing a risky hand and dangerous game - " (near as I can remember his exact language -)
