than thirty percent of the economy of South Carolina and a relatively high proportionate share of our entire nation's economic well-being; and

Whereas, the automobile and its use are indispensable to meet the essential transportation needs of commerce and of all our citizens, and the imposition of governmental mandates on the automobile industry has so increased their prices as to severely reduce sales, thus creating mass unemployment and drastically reducing revenues to all levels of government at a time of dramatically increased need for public revenues for essential humane requirements. Now, therefore,

Be it resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring:

That Congress is strongly urged to review and reconsider all, federally-imposed mandates, including those adopted by authorized government departments or agencies as they pertain to or govern the manufacture and use of automobiles.

Be it further resolved that wherever it is found that the cost or effect of such mandates are unreasonable in relation to the environmental, safety and social benefits intended, Congress in its own right and in accord with its own wisdom is hereby requested forthwith take action to promptly modify or rescind all mandates imposed on the automotive industry which are counter-productive, notwithstanding the unproven and detrimental theories commonly advanced by bureaucratic zealots.

Be it further resolved that copies of this resolution be forwarded to each member of Congress from South Carolina and to the Clerks of the United States Senate and the House of Representatives.

CHILD AND FAMILY SERVICES

Mr. MONDALE. Mr. President, as many of my colleagues are aware, the Child and Family Services Act is being subjected to an outrageous and totally dishonest propaganda attack. Completely false allegations are being made that this legislation would somehow give children the legal right to disobey their parents; somehow prohibit parents from providing religious training to their children; somehow give the Government authority over child rearing; and somehow give children the right to complain about their parents and teachers "without fear of reprisal."

These charges are absolutely and completely false. There is not a shred of truth in any one of them. If there were, neither I nor any Member of Congress would be sponsoring this legislation.

Mr. President, today I would like to bring to the attention of my colleagues and the public a letter I received from Archbishop Roach of the Archdiocese of St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Speaking for the bishops of Minnesota, Archbishop Roach denounces this attack on the Child and Family Services Act and specifically endorses the bill's protection of the rights of parents.

I ask unanimous consent that this letter be printed in the RECORD, and I commend it to the attention of my colleagues and the public.

There being no objection, the letter was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

ARCHDIOCESE OF ST. PAUL AND MINNEAPOLIS,

St. Paul, Minn., December 15, 1975.

HON. WALTER F. MONDALE,
U.S. Senate, Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C.

DEAR SENATOR MONDALE: The Board of Directors of the Minnesota Catholic Conference met on December 10 and one of our items for discussion was an informational item concerning your Child and Family Services Bill.

The attacks on that bill are dishonest and we, as the Bishops of Minnesota, deplore them.

The bill would fill an urgent need and, at least as we read it, is very careful in providing proper protection for the rights of parents.

If this letter of support for your bill can be used to its advantage, we want to raise our voices in support of it.

Sincerely yours,
MOST REV. JOHN R. ROACH, D.D.,
Archbishop of St. Paul and Minneapolis.

THE TRIAD CONCEPT

Mr. GOLDWATER. Mr. President, the American Fighter Aces Association is made up of American aces of all services in all wars in which the U.S. Air Forces have been involved, and while their numbers are few, their spirit is strong and their love of America remains uppermost.

At their meeting in Carefree, Ariz., this past summer they passed a resolution which was sent to President Ford, and I ask unanimous consent that this resolution concerning the TRIAD concept be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the resolution was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

RESOLUTION TO PRESIDENT FORD

The following is a copy of the resolution sent to President Ford from the American Fighter Aces Association National Convention.

RESOLUTION I

Subject: "TRIAD Concept"
Whereas, the Salt I agreement was based on approximate strategic parity between the Soviet Union and the United States with Soviet quantitative advantages being balanced by American qualitative advantages; and

Whereas, American technology advantages tend to decrease if the Soviets deploy multiple independently targetable re-entry vehicles (MIRVs), obtain better accuracy and improve warheads; and

Whereas, the Soviets are presently demonstrating some of these advances in a rapidly-paced ICBM test program involving new strategic missiles, and

Whereas, the TRIAD concept is deemed vital to the security of our Nation in providing insurance against technological breakthroughs that might neutralize any one of our offensive systems, imposing a major defense problem to an aggressor, and in offering a great variety of options and unique capabilities for response; and

Whereas, to remain a viable and creditable deterrent the TRIAD must continually be updated with the latest technology and equipment; and

Whereas, the Trident submarine system, the land-based Minuteman missile system, and the B-1 bomber programs have all been endorsed by our President and defense leaders of our country as necessities for our security; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the American Fighter Aces Association at their Annual Meeting in Carefree, Arizona on May 15, 16, 17, 18, 1975, that they support the administration and urge the Congress to approve and support the TRIAD concept with continued modernization of the based Minuteman system, and the rapid development and procurement of the B-1 bomber and the Trident submarine by providing adequate authorization and appropriations therefore in current and future fiscal years for these vital elements of the TRIAD.

THE UNITED NATIONS AND THE CHALLENGE BEFORE US

Mr. HUMPHREY. Mr. President, last fall the annual United Nations Women's Rally in St. Paul hosted a very distinguished speaker, Dr. Peter Jankowitsch, the Representative of Austria to the United Nations. I want to share Dr. Jankowitsch's remarks with my colleagues, because he has succeeded in presenting a most timely topic—the state of the world as reflected by the state of the United Nations—in proper perspective.

The American media has been glugged of late with talk of the United Nations. We are constantly reminded of what the United Nations has not been able to accomplish. Present conditions in the U.N. suggest that it is no longer "our ballpark," and this seems to stimulate American disillusionment and dissatisfaction with the activities of that organization.

In contrast, Dr. Jankowitsch sees the United Nations for what it is—not a panacea for all the world's problems, but as our most vital international forum where all nations can convene, where a spirit of cooperation and understanding among nations is encouraged if not always realized and which, in turn, is essential in any effort to deal with global issues.

Dr. Jankowitsch has spoken eloquently of the indispensable role which the United Nations played in the transition from the colonial era; of its important contributions to the settlement of violent conflicts in many parts of the world through its emergency peacekeeping forces; of its ambitious economic initiatives to encourage development and an improved quality of life for all the world's people; and of what he terms the "world problematique," or the host of global dilemmas confronting us today which emphasize international interdependence and the need for continued participation in a strong United Nations.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Dr. Jankowitsch's remarks be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the remarks were ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

REMARKS BY DR. PETER JANKOWITSCH

Madame President, Mayor Gohan, distinguished members of the United Nations Rally Committee, ladies and gentlemen: Let me address a warm word of gratitude to my hosts today for inviting me to be your speaker at this year's United Nations Rally in St. Paul.

I am deeply impressed not only by the now
