Younger people, especially those subject to the draft, and the more affluent favor the voluntary army idea most. They most often observed that the trouble with the present system is that it compelled many young men not in sympathy with the war effort to be subject to the draft. They frequently volunteered that even though the lottery was an improvement, the most equitable system would be to make the armed forces entirely voluntary.

The survey said to the cross section, "Let me read you some statements which have been made about a voluntary army. For each, tell me if you tend to agree or disagree.

STATEMENTS ABOUT VOLUNTEER ARMY

Favor, Oppose, Not sure

Position: A volunteer army is good because only young men who want to serve will be drafted. It will make it easier for the United States to fight a war such as Vietnam, and that is good.

Favor: 42, Oppose: 40, Not sure: 18

Negative: A volunteer army would destroy the American tradition of civilians defending the country in time of war. A volunteer army would create a professional military force that would be a real threat in a democracy.
